Your free spirit... it led us to new places and showed us new possibilities. Courageous. Kind. A rebel soul. You didn't need patches on your jacket or tattoos on your arm to prove it. You lived it. Every day. Our times together were more than about having fun or working. They were about making the most of whatever might lie ahead. Whether it was on the open road, a back yard patio, or high up on a beam at a construction site – you touched us all in ways you may have never known. We'll miss you Nick... we'll never forget you.
